National Drug Court Month

Gov. Paul E. Patton has declared the month of May as National Drug Court Month in Kentucky, stating that drug courts provide the focus and leadership for community-wide, anti-drug systems, which bring together criminal justice, education and other community partners in the fight against drug abuse and criminality. He has cited intensive judicial supervision, mandatory drug testing, and escalating sanctions and treatment as reasons for the success of this program. He praises the hard work of the legal and professional leaders and staff who are involved in this important mission.

The Governor also cites the growth of the national drug court movement from 12 original drug courts in 1994 to over 1200 drug courts nationally. Many more drug courts are in the planning stage.

He cites success in Kentucky with drug courts operating in 12 jurisdictions, with plans for expansion to additional sites that will expand the drug court program into 74 Kentucky counties. To date, drug courts have helped over 552 Kentucky citizens turn their lives away from drugs to become contributing members of society.

At the present time, juveniles in need of drug treatment in Pulaski, Lincoln and Rockcastle counties are served by Judge Debra Hembree Lambert, Kenneth Creekmore, Treatment Coordinator and Tony Anger, case specialist.

The county also owes $24,000 to the Henderson heirs for property they purchased for the county's second industrial park.

Most recently the county borrowed $47,500 for the Mt. Vernon fire department, which used the money to buy a rescue truck used at wrecks.

The county has also apparently obligated themselves to spend $250,000 from next year's road fund for work done this fiscal year.

All total the county has obligations on the books for $4.15 million.
